PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

KSNV-TV (NBC)

Reporter

Las Vegas, NV

2010-2012

- Primary nightside reporter for prominent 11pm nightly newscasts for Las Vegas's number one television station (News 3; NBC affiliate).
- Brought viewers exclusive reports interviewing - on camera - students who claimed their substitute teacher hit them. Followed up unveiling the school district's slow process to investigate and prosecute potential 'bad teachers' elevating parents' call for more accountability at the highest levels.
- Exclusively revealed to a Las Vegas woman on camera that a local 'fake doctor' sexually abused her son while she was sedated. The story began when the woman came forward to talk exclusively about w about the sexual abuse she endured while sedated as well.
- Lead the market in finding local connections to the stories of revolution in the Middle East. Spoke to an Egyptian refugee who unveiled his connections and fears about the unrest abroad. Brought viewers a touching interview with an Egyptian woman who feared for her cousin's life, and also exclusively spoke to a local physician who feared for his family's life in Libya.
- Exclusively and repeatedly located, booked, and identified Las Vegas locals who said police used undue force on their loved ones, including a woman who claimed she witnessed police wrongly shoot and kill her boyfriend just a day before. The reports invoked action calling for more police accountability and transparency both within the police department and in local government.
- Won the Nevada Broadcasters Association's 2012 Electronic Media Award for best hard news coverage in October 2012 for following up a child's death in a North Las Vegas crosswalk, and the improvements made to safety in the area.

WNCN-TV (NBC)
Reporter/MMJ

Raleigh, NC
2007-2009

- Uncovered a massive warrant control problem in the Durham, NC magistrate office. In a live report, revealed for the first time 50,000 unserved arrest warrants (including some for rape and robbery), some of which were nearly 20 years old and still waiting to be served. Followed governmental reform at state, county, and local levels until massive changes were made.
- Part of a team of reporters, web producers, and news managers who attempted to usher in a new 'web first' and 'hyper-local' multimedia environment.
